

ABSTRACT

A platform assembly that attaches to a chair to support a computer peripheral device, e.g. a mouse. The assembly includes a platform, a flexible support arm, a first coupling, and a second coupling. The flexible support arm allows 5 excellent adjustability of the platform that supports the computer peripheral device. The second coupling, a spring-loaded clamp, provides an effective means for coupling the assembly to the chair.